Such processing includes passing the submitted works to the relevant jury members for assessment and, once the prize winners have been selected, the assimilation of such works in the awards ceremony for the Innovationspreis. The data of the prize winners and finalists are processed in the context of public relations activities. In this connection the processing takes place on the legal basis of Art. 6 (1) Sentence 1 Points b and f GDPR. Our legitimate interest lies in the advancement of development and research.
4. Recipients of the personal data	Within our only those who need your data to fulfill the forenamed purposes are granted access to same. Names and contact details are additionally passed on to jury members and expert appraisers. Processors engaged by us (as per Art. 28 GDPR) can receive the data for the specified purposes. These are primarily undertakings operating in the IT services and public relations sectors.
5. Transmission to third countries outside the EU	Data are not transmitted to third countries outside the EU.
6. Categories of personal data that are processed	Contact details, communication data, personal data (in case of own entries: résumé of the applicant (or of the members of the project group or nominee)), application documents
7. Duration of storage of personal data	The names of the finalists and winners are stored until consent is withdrawn. The contact details are erased no later than 12 months after the most recent interaction. Personal data such as résumés are erased once the required purpose no longer exists.
8. Rights of data subjects	Provided that the statutory conditions are satisfied, you have the following rights pursuant to Arts. 15 through 18, 20 and 21 EU-GDPR: Right to obtain information, to request rectification, erasure and restriction of processing, and to data portability. In order to exercise your rights, please contact the data protection officer or the controller. You also have the right to object to processing that takes place on the basis of a legitimate interest on grounds relating to your particular situation that are incompatible with data processing. In case of a legitimate objection, we then cease to process the personal data. You have the right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority if you consider that your personal data are being processed unlawfully.
